SCIENCE SIFTINGS.

Lightning clouds are always near the ground. They are seldom at a greater height than 2,000 feet.

It is said that a French chemist has discovered a method of making celluloid combustible. His method consists of adding perchloride of iron to an ether-alcohol solution of celluloid.

It has long been known that smokers are not liable to certain diseases. It is now held that this is due to the presence in the tobacco of formaldehyde, one of the strongest of disinfectants.

The brightness of the corona or ring of light encircling the sun was measured by Charles Fabry during the last total eclipse. He found the light of a point a twentieth degree from the sun's edge to be equivalent to about 720 candlepower, or a little more than a fourth of the brightness of the full moon. The sky near the un eclipsed sun is 2,000 times as bright.

A Strange Custom.
A strange custom prevails in Kamchatka, where a man who wishes to entertain a guest invites him into a cabin which is heated to an excessive temperature and then presses him with food until he is in a state of torpor. Instances of men dying at these orgies have been known.

Origin of Bush Fires.
The discovery has been made that recent great bush fires in New South Wales and Victoria were caused by phosphorous paste laid out to kill rabbits. As soon as the mixture dried the sun's rays set fire to it.

PHOTO DON'TS.

Don't wear black. It gives a hard, dense tone.

Don't smile unless it comes naturally or the result will be annoying.

Don't expect to get a photograph that will please you if you are fatigued when sitting.

Don't be afraid of wearing lace. The line between flesh and dress will be softened by it.

Don't take a full faced picture if the nose is crooked or the eyes weak. Try a three-quarter view.

Don't choose a day when the sunshine is very bright or every imperfection will be developed. A well lighted cloudy day is best.

KILLED BY FRENCH BULLET

Lieutenant England Shot at Chefoo on Saturday

OFFICER OF CHATTANOOGA

The American Was Standing on the Bridge of His Vessel During Target Practice of Cruiser Dupetit Thouars.

Washington, July 30.—Lieutenant Clarence England, navigating officer of the United States cruiser Chattanooga, was killed at Chefoo, China, at about noon Saturday, by a rifle bullet fired by a member of the crew of the French armored cruiser Dupetit Thouars, and died at 6 o'clock that evening. The Chattanooga, with Lieutenant England on the bridge, was proceeding from the harbor to the target range just outside and was passing the French squadron, which was anchored near the American squadron and was engaged in small-arms practice. The Chattanooga, after several bullets had struck the side of the ship, signaled to the Frenchman to cease firing, but before this was accomplished, Lieutenant England was struck in the back, at the base of the spine, probably by a ricochet bullet, which left his body under the arm. The crew of the Dupetit Thouars later confined the practice from the deck of the cruiser, their fire being directed at targets in the water, differing from the American practice of landing men on a barren island at the entrance of the harbor. The French squadron at Chefoo consists of nine ships and the American of seven.

The navy department received cablegrams from Rear Admiral Frazer, dated at Chefoo, Saturday, announcing the wounding and death of Lieutenant England, as follows:

"Lieutenant Clarence England seriously wounded while on the bridge of the Chattanooga leaving harbor for target range by a bullet from French man-of-war engaged upon small-arms practice."

"Lieutenant England died Saturday at 6 p. m., eight hours after being wounded."

The navy department has cabled the commanding officers to have the body of Lieutenant England sent home and the usual letter to the next of kin has been written to his father, J. E. England, 509 Rock street, Little Rock, Ark. Lieutenant England was appointed from Arkansas in 1890 to the naval academy and became a lieutenant in 1902. He had been on the Chattanooga since 1904. The naval officers at Washington believe that the shooting was entirely accidental, and it is expected that the French officials will make ample apologies. Many naval officers have had experiences which show how such accidents could occur.

FACTS AND FANCIES.

Jet Combs and Collars a Summer Fancy—Colored Shoes—Motor Hat.

Jet is very fashionable this summer, especially for ornaments. A charming high comb of the Spanish type is inset with brilliant, and another attractive form is a jet dog collar crossed with bars of diamonds or pearls.

There is a new motor hat that is adorably light and small. Once fastened on it would defy the whole of Hans Andersen's cavern of winds. In shape it is nothing more than a very small cocked hat, a tiny Napoleon shape, in chip with a soft glaze rosette at each point. The most acutely Gibsonian headdress rises uncrowned in front of it, and the motor veil drapes over it neatly.

Colored shoes, with stockings to match, have superseded black shoes. It would look ugly even with a dark dress to wear black stockings and shoes. The little varnished shoe with paste buckles may be tolerated, but the stocking must be of some bright color.

The more varieties of trimming and the more varied the designs the smarter is the little linen bolero suit. Imitation Irish lace, renaissance braid, embroidered motifs combined with net and valenciennes lace are used on the same garment.

The little girl's dress seen in the picture is attractively carried out in white mull and English embroidery. The full skirt is tucked between bands of the embroidery. And the bloused waist has bands and neck trimming of the same embroidery.

Miss Zoe will stop at Concord on their return to enter a training school for nurses, which is conducted in connection with the state hospital in that city.

Albert Johnson of Montpelier strayed over to Woodsville, N. H., the first of the week and soon found himself up against the real article of taking the medicine dealt out in the justice court at Wells River, where to his plea of guilty of intoxication for the first time.

He was sentenced to Chelsea jail for twenty days and arrived here Wednesday afternoon to commence his vacation at the expense of the state.

The 20th anniversary of the muster-ing of No. 28, H. E. K. Hall camp, Sons of Veterans, will be held at the town hall, Friday evening, August 3rd, from 8 to 11 o'clock, which will be free to everybody, and an invitation to attend is universal and cordially extended. During the first hour a reception will be held which will be followed by a programme of entertainment, after which light refreshments will be served.

Mrs. J. R. Blair and Miss Edith Sargent, who are respectively a sister and cousin of Mrs. George A. Tracey, and who have been visiting her, left for their home in Plattsmouth, N. Y., last week, accompanied by Mrs. Tracey, who had sufficiently recovered from her recent severe illness to make the journey without material fatigue. Mr. Tracey has received notice since her arrival, however, that she is again seriously ill and her condition causes her many friends here much alarm.

At a meeting of the voters of the first district, No. 1, held at the town hall Thursday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Moderator, E. A. Corwin; secretary, H. O. Bixby; treasurer, H. S. Mattison; prudential committee, E. A. Corwin, O. D. Tracey, and W. C. Holmes; chief engineer, George A. Tracey; first assistant engineer, Stanley C. Wilson; second assistant engineer, T. G. Dearborn. A tax of five per cent of the grand list of the district was voted and a meeting of the Vulturo fire engine company was called for Tuesday evening, August 7th, for the purpose of completing the organization.
